When it's more than checking off on the requirements...

E-RATE ONLINE is a professional consulting firm specializing in full service program management of the E-Rate federal reimbursement program – including planning and analysis, comprehensive application filing, and reimbursement tracking and reporting.

To this diligent team, though – it's about far more than simply checking off on the requirements. It's about uncovering what others simply fail to see – ensuring that no detail has been left unseen and every opportunity has been unearthed.

It's about giving you the undivided attention you deserve every step of the way – providing you with the personal attention, insights and advice you need to make important decisions that are right for both your technology needs, as well as your budget.

And, when it's all said and done, it's about garnering the maximum funding possible for your school or library – for the well-being of your institution and for the people to whom that funding is most vital.
